

- 1 Therefore do nimble-pinioned doves draw Love

Venus, the Roman goddess of love, rode in a chariot pulled by doves.

- 2 upon the highmost hill / Of this day's journey

I.e., at its highest point, which it reaches at noon

- 3 bandy

Drive; Juliet imagines that her words will send the Nurse to Romeo and then his words will quickly send the Nurse back to Juliet with his message, as in an exchange of tennis shots.
